MONEY AND GUNS.
A ROCKEFELLER CAMPAIGN.
TO BOYCOTT ITALY.
PUSHING A BEER BILL.

—By Arthur Brisbane
(Copyright 1930 By King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Two things are powerful in this country, money and saved-off shot-guns and other paraphernalia of the gangster.

Mr. Thaw escaped easily from the Matteawan hospital for the criminally insane some time ago. He had money.

Yesterday from the same hospital escaped six supposed maniacs, some of them convicted murderers. Three gunmen released them, defying the state, overpowering the guards.

John D. Rockefeller, Sr., and John D. Rockefeller, Jr., each give $500,000 to help the unemployment problem in New York, where they live.

A generous gift, it is nothing to the hundreds of millions that the Rockefellers give to fight disease, and encourage education and science all over the world.

Including the Rockefeller $1,000,000, rich New York has raised in all a little over $4,000,000.

If there are as Mr. Green of the American Federation of Labor says, 4,800,000 out of work, then $4,000,000 won't go far. This country gave ten thousand millions to foreign nations, fighting.

War is exciting. Poverty and misery are not exciting or interesting. No wonder the communist perched on his soap box says "I can attract more attention by throwing a stone through a 5th avenue window, than you could by starving to death."

It is suggested that Mussolini may be compelled to take the advice of the big three concerning Italy's navy, etc., by cutting off her credit. The big three as you know are France, Great Britain and the United States.

If they arrange as suggested to refuse all loans to Italy, Mussolini might find it difficult to survive.

On the other hand, something might happen that would hurt the feelings of the big three considerably more than Mussolini's Italy has ever hurt them.

With Mussolini down, chaos, followed by anarchy, and disagreeable consequences might develop.

The big three should know that one Russia in Europe is enough at a time.

Yet congressmen have a beer bill, and will push it, but, outnumbered nearly three to one by dries, they probably will not push it far. However, "ain't it a good offer?" as Mr. Fields said to Mr. Weber, when he handed a dollar, and bid $5,000 for a dog.

Yet members might arouse interest by scattering about the house pictures of a veteran British athlete, nearing three score and ten, famous, who has recently traveled from London to Burton or Trent, the great beer center, 153 miles, drinking nothing but beer on the way. You could not do that on whiskey, although you might do it on ice water, if you did not drink too much.

Mr. Dewar, who owns the New York Sun, thinks this country should not be pitchforked into the League of Nations, through the back door of the World Court, and wisely decides to let the people know about it.

He will put his views into a page advertisement, to be printed in 1900.

WOMEN'S GROUP FORMED TO AID SALEM'S NEEDY

Help For Hospitals And Charities Is Needleworkers' Goal

The Salem branch of the Needlework Guild of America, Inc., was organized Thursday afternoon when a group of women met at Memorial building and selected these officers: President, Mrs. Burr Leeper; vice president, Mrs. Ella Steer; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Robert V. Wilson.

Directors enrolled at this meeting include: Mrs. Leeper, Mrs. Steer, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. H. A. Walton, Mrs. Grant Elton, Mrs. A. H. Copeland, Mrs. S. R. Meenan, Mrs. R. C. Paramore, Mrs. Albert Starbuck, Mrs. Hannah Maule, Miss Sarah French.

The Needlework Guild owes its origin to an English woman of the nobility, it is learned from a review of its history. She was foster-mother to hundreds of orphans in an institution which she had founded.

In 1885, an American woman traveling in England, learned of this charity, which had grown to great strength, and brought the idea to Philadelphia. Her niece was the founder of the American organization, which has grown until now there is a national body governing the more than 600 branches in the United States.

The object of the guild is to collect and distribute new, plain, suitable garments to meet the great need of hospitals, homes and charities, and to extend the usefulness by the organization of branches.

This guild differs from other sewing societies in that it holds only one meeting a year for the collection and distribution of garments.

It is non-sectarian in its membership, all creeds, classes and sects working together.

The annual contribution of two or more new articles of wearing apparel or household linen, or a donation of money constitutes membership in a branch.

Any member obtaining contributions from 10 persons, and one money member, becomes a director.

FOURTH WARD TOPS LOCAL DISTRICTS

Secretary Of State's Figures Show County Increase

Salem's new population figures, indicating a gradual growth in the progress of the city since 1880 until the present day, are shown in official census reports announced today by Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown.

Mayor Gets Report

The report, received by Mayor John M. Davidson, listed Salem's population for 1930, the fifteenth census conducted in Ohio, at 10,622, an increase of 317 or 3.1 per cent. The population of areas annexed by the city after completion of the census enumerations, and which is unofficially estimated at 1,800 in local surveys, is not included in the official reports. This would bring the figure to 12,422, an approximate increase of 1,117 over the 1920 enumeration.

The city's population showed a gradual increase over a 70-year period, the state report shows, and since 1880 has increased more than 8,000. Census figures at 10-year intervals since 1880 follow:

Year	Pop.	Inc.	Pct.
1870	3,700	1,811	95.9
1880	4,041	341	9.2
1890	5,780	1,739	43.0
1900	7,582	1,802	31.2

Barter's Spouse For Livestock

(By International News Service)
MUSCATINE, IA., Dec. 5.—Alex Groshelm, 70, explained his recent divorce today in the simple statement that he had "traded in" his wife Rosie for his best friend, receiving seven hogs, one dozen chickens and a fine dog in return.

After 10 years of married life Groshelm decided he and his wife, Rosie Houpp, were not well matched, he said. He decided he wasn't used to matrimony anyway.

"Of course I didn't want to divorce her without fixing things up so she would have another husband," he said, "so I thought and thought and suddenly remembered my old friend Oscar Vogel."

Groshelm said he told Oscar about Rosie and Rosie about Oscar and it developed that both wanted to return to Austria. A bargain was struck and Rosie procured her divorce. With Groshelm as her man, Rosie and Oscar were wed.

"They're on the high seas now," Groshelm added, "I promised I wouldn't tell until they started."

HOOVER URGES WAGE PAYMENT IN SIX MONTHS

That's Real Test, President Says, Of Relief Measure

APPROPRIATIONS UNIT GETS PLAN

Funds Go To Projects Already Authorized By Congress

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—President Hoover's plan for spending $150,000,000 within six months on public building projects was started today on the road to legislative enactment, with the first outburst of criticism apparently stifled.

Gets Favorable Reception

A detailed explanation of his plan, giving the amounts allocated to subdivisions of the government departments but not naming the specific projects to be built, was accorded a favorable reception as the House Appropriations committee began hearings on the proposal.

Mr. Hoover's observation that the test of unemployment relief plans lay in the ability to pay wages within the next six months arrested the attention of the legislators.

Then too, the President pointed out that all the work to be done with the funds will be on projects already authorized by Congress. The resolution to carry out the request was introduced in the house by Chairman Wood of the Appropriation committee. A companion measure was placed before the Senate to await the house's action.

Iron Out Technicalities

Colonel Woods, chairman of the President's Unemployment committee, saw necessity for some legislation to iron out technicalities, and conferred with congressional leaders to get it through.

This is the way the President proposes to spend the funds: Agriculture department $84,324,980, with $8c for this for roads; War department $57,473,800, nearly half of it to non-military outlays such as waterways and harbors; Commerce department $1,038,000; Interior department $1,757,000; Justice department $355,000 for institutions, and Navy department $4,620,000.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

The opinions which President Hoover expressed on the state of the union last Tuesday have been commented upon editorially by every important newspaper in the nation. They have been discussed over office desks, dinner tables, bridge tables and work tables. Perhaps no other message delivered by a single citizen is so waited upon by popular attention. Four days later, despite the veritable shower of departmental reports being published at this time, the president's message still is a principal topic of conversation.

There is a consensus among the expressions available from writers, legislators, business men and a small but representative section of the population that Mr. Hoover's message contained nothing startling. It revealed little which might be called "vigorous" leadership. "Nothing that is new" is one commentary on it.

The worst that the president's political opponents can find to say is that the message was "about in line with expectations," that it contributed further to destroying the illusion of the "miracle man," which was built up with eminent success in the 1928 campaign. On only one point, the World Court, is there marked disagreement, with one side arguing that Mr. Hoover does wrong to impose an abstract issue of that nature on the nation at this time.

A collection of the adjectives used to modify the message in many editorial opinions includes the following: Sober, commonplace, subdued, specific, calm, measured, business-like, moderate, sensible, and honest. From Democrat legislators in Washington came many expressions of disappointment concerning specific issues. Thus, Senator Wagner of New York, author of the nation's most feasible proposal for unemployment relief, said:

"The president's message is the most conclusive bit of evidence that his method of dealing with unemployment—without preparation, without advance organization, without accurate information, and without persistent application, equally during periods of prosperity and depression, has failed."

Senator Wheeler of Montana believes the message indicates the president "has failed to interpret the election correctly or to understand the cause of the present depression." The New York Herald Tribune, on the other hand, supports the tone of the message by saying that it "reflects the mood of a people that does not feel that it can at this time afford the questionable luxury of political excitement."

In a very real sense Mr. Hoover's message reflects a common attitude among the citizenry. He is interested chiefly in the depression—so are they. He avoided prohibition, which is of secondary importance at this time, anyway. He does not see his way clear to a solution of the nation's economic problems, but he expresses confidence that the soundness of the nation's fundamental institutions and principles, and vast resources can bring about recovery more quickly than would be possible if such advantages were lacking. And that is approximately the background against which most Americans citizens reason.

PILLARS OF HERCULES

Faith can work miracles. Eventually, if exercised sufficiently, it may succeed in putting a tunnel under the English channel. It may also result in another vast tunneling enterprise which has been reopened to discussion again in recent week—a tunnel under the Straits of Gibraltar.

The latter project already has been approached with something more tangible than talk. An inspection shaft has been sunk on the Spanish side at Tarifa, 20 miles west of Gibraltar and another will be sunk in Spanish Morocco. As far as is known the results of the investigation made thus are favorable to the project.

In Europe any new means of communication or travel between countries must be considered first of all from the viewpoint of military significance. A tunnel connecting the pillars of Hercules would alter the balance of power in the Mediterranean by providing a short route from Europe to Africa. England, France and Italy would be concerned directly. France, provided that she remained friendly with Spain, would have the advantage of uninterrupted land communication and traffic with that country, and hence with the North African French colonies.

Of almost equal importance would be the expense of the project. Although the Straits of Gibraltar are but eight miles wide the cost of the maintenance and use of such a tunnel added to the estimated initial cost of approximately $50,000,000 would be a considerable sum.

But no great engineering project has appeared easy in prospect. The Suez and Panama canals the tunnels made by American cities, the Detroit river tunnel connecting United States and Canada—all have presented formidable, not to say insurmountable obstacles. In each of them human ingenuity has scored an impressive victory, the cumulative effect of which has been to convince the layman that virtually nothing is impossible where there was sufficient faith.

What Others Say

Not A Federal Job

After the President denied any intention of asking congress to provide for federal crime clean-ups where local police and courts fail, a few congressmen, with whom the idea perhaps originated, have declared their intention to bring the matter up at the coming session.

If such a proviso is introduced it should find its proper place in some obscure pigeonhole. It should be clear by now that the passage of a few more laws, federal or otherwise, can do nothing to rid the cities of the swarms of bootleggers, racketeers and gunmen who have fastened on wherever illicit profits are to be made. The success of the government in its capacity as prohibition agent holds little hope that it would excel in stamping out local crime, even if there were any justification whatever for its becoming a policeman.

Every state has existing laws and every city existing ordinances which, if honestly and vigorously enforced, would clear out the hoodlums. They are not honestly enforced, in a great many cases not enforced at all. In some centers enforcement of the common laws against murder, robbery, blackmail, has so far broken down that known killers and other felons can be charged only with vagrancy, and the federal government itself is reduced to jailing for non-payment of income taxes criminals known to have made by crime the money on which they are taxed.

No sensible person wants any further encroachment by the government in state and local affairs. But the federal government, and particularly those congressmen who advocate the arbitrary use of force to relieve a symptom, might look for the sources of the corruption—the word is Mr. Hoover's—that has broken down enforcement of criminal laws. Finding a remedy will be extremely difficult, but a great deal more useful and more in harmony with federal function than an effort to police the country—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Overheard: "She was as close to me as the inside of my pocket, but turned out a rat." The blind man who sells pocket dictionaries and will define any word in it—or you get one free. What became of vaudeville's La Belle Titcomb and her beautiful white horse? W. C. Lengel.

Strutting old ruses full of mental ravings. Frank G. Shattuck, who directs the Schrafft places. A silent movie theatre for the deaf would pay. It was this column that predicted the success of a news reel theatre eight years ago. And a stock boom last July.

Joe Leblang's jutting smile. Nearly always an upside down N. in Times electric news flashes. The Winthrop, where Flood Gibbons stops. Beggers do not plead for a dime any more—they demand it. Who remembers when the youngest child had to wave a shoofly over the dinner table?

The grinning, garrulous colored starter in front of Reuben's and his greeting: "Reuben's—That's All." The row of glossy art galleries on East 57th. Monta Bell's overcoat suggests an explosion in a dye factory. Frederick J. Smith of the New Movie magazine.

That coat of armor in the Vanderbilt hall entrance. Will Hayes breezing along. The fellow who sends me a daily anonymous post-card has missed for ten days. And it has been going on for two years. Wonder if everybody else is fed up on those "It's the tomboy in me!" stories?

Broadway souvenir shops, despite thousands of tourists every day, cannot exist on souvenir profits alone. All must augment sales with magic trics, cut rate tickets and the like, to survive.

In the adjoining booth in a cafe a disillusioned Romeo was speaking his troubled mind. "It is no use to go on," he said. "When I go home I get hell from her and when with you, you are always crying for something I cannot buy."

I dawdled over my java for a good look when they departed. She was a frumpy woman, past 40, with hennaed hair and thick eyeglasses. He had a sorry, freckless face, weak, watery eyes, and a wispy mustache. I was disillusioned, too.

Somehow I got a chuckle out of what was not intended as an amusing sentence in a British novel. It read: "He was a conservative who despised new-fangled nonsense and was killed in a one-way street."

So many callers lately are at grips with misfortune that a pleasant visitor today was a young lady seeking typing to do at home. "I've been bounced from a dozen jobs the past year," she said, "and owe a mess of room rent but I still think life is pretty grand. The only time I think of the river it is coupled with a canoe, moonlight and the boy friend."

In one of the current plays the term for a dog's mother is an applied epithet exactly 12 times among a trio of Broadway demi-monde. The word lately has lost all its venomous implication and taken on a sort of reverence. Chorus girls frequently tack it on to their greeting: "Hello."

The Stars Say

For Saturday, December 6

The sidereal operations for this day accent fairly lively and progressive conditions, with a heightened spirit of enterprise and a decisive reaching for advanced goals. In purely independent plans and projects there is more planetary encouragement than in endeavors in connection with employers, as there have a menace of misunderstanding of frustration.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a fairly lively and ambitious year, but one in which the private adventures and aims may flourish rather than those in connection with employers. A child born on this day should be endowed with initiative and ambition, but may succeed best on its own responsibility.

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland

"Awkward Period" in Children
Boys and Girls twelve to sixteen years of age have their own problems. They are at a time of life when rapid growth and development produce conditions that demand special attention.

This may be called the "awkward period" of life. The young folks don't know what to do with their long legs. Their growing hands and feet are in the way. There are strange emotions stirring in their hearts.

Sometimes there is a feeling of loneliness, a sense of aloofness, a suspicion that their elders do not understand them. This is the time they need advice, but the young things don't know where to get it. They don't want to be laughed at or scolded. They don't know where to turn.

I get many letters from men and women who write to me because, they say, I am a sort of impersonal individual. They would not face the family doctor with the question they put to me. It is easier to write an outsider, although he is a stranger, but made at least half a friend, perhaps, by reason of his familiar writings.

Well, boys and girls, I am at your disposal. If you have problems, so have a million of other young people. If you will tell me what troubles you, it may help me to assist a multitude of others who are having thoughts and anxieties exactly like yours.

I do wish to say this right now: Because you wonder about life, don't be distressed about it. Many of your strange feelings, probably all of them, are just the same feelings your parents and all the rest of your generation had. Every one of your ancestors went through the same stage. The fact that they became ancestors proves that nothing ill in their effects can happen as a result of the symptoms you observe in yourself.

Nothing is more terrible than the fear that you are abnormal. You may wonder sometimes if what you go through is not a sign that you are not normal. It isn't. As a matter of fact, you wouldn't be normal if you didn't have these symptoms. They are really the sure signs of your normal state.

If you write to me, in care of the paper where you read this, the kindly editor will forward the letter to me. But being assured that what you experience just now, is what every older person has experienced, may give you the comfort I want you to have.

HISTORIC SPAN OVER MAHONING TO BE WRECKED

Patriarch Of Ohio's Covered Bridges Soon To Be But Legend

YOUNGSTOWN, Dec. 4. — Old "Center of the World," patriarch of Ohio's ancient covered bridges, soon will become a legend.

The wrecking machinery of the state highway department already is at work in Mahoning county, where the aged structures abound. As snow drives across the Mahoning river, the bridge rapidly is being dismantled. A new concrete viaduct soon will stand in its place. Steel and cement, gigantic cranes and rumbling trucks soon will erase completely the oak and elm thoroughfare where once the rustic command "giddyap" was a sesame of travel.

119 Years Old

Old "Center of the World" is 119 years old, and it crosses the stream at Leavittsburg, 25 miles northwest of here. By summer the new viaduct will have erased everything but the memory of the traffic of more than a century. The old wooden bridge cost but $300. This, on a percentage basis, disregarding upkeep and improvements, amounted to but $29 a year. The new bridge will cause an expenditure of $70,000.

Back in 1811, decades before Mahoning county became one of the greatest steel producing areas in the world, expert carpenters, who came west from New England in covered wagons and on horseback, found the Mahoning river blocking their progress. Its bright water, gurgling defiantly, seemed to chuckle at puny humanity.

They produced their axes and went into the forests, while the interested eyes of Mahoning county's first families, the Indians, watched. Soon they had felled a sufficient number of the trees. Presently the bridge stood as a monument to pioneer fortitude.

Cabins, Stores, Built

Cabins sprang up. Then came stores and trading posts. Patches of green country were hewn out of the woods. Here and there was a village, with its main street, its church and its school house. In places of prairie schooners and mule trains, carriages and buggies began to rumble over old "Center of the World."

The bridge acquired new dignity. Its masters changed from unshaven fellows in coonskin caps and leather jackets to elegant gentlemen—some of whom operated inns and fought duels. Farmers also were among the distinguished early users of old "Center of the World."

It was perhaps a quarter of a century after its erection that the historic structure acquired the name by which it is known. The name has piqued historians here. They have attempted to establish its source authentically with little success.

Calls It a Joke

An old settler, living for many years in the shadow of the wooden spans, declared it was "a joke of some kind."

Another aged resident recalled that in the early days, according to the stories he had heard from his father, there was a store, on the northwest side of the bridge, owned by a merchant with a grim sense of humor. Over his office he placed the sign "End of the World Store." Naturally, the old timer pointed out, the bridge, coming before the store, was the "Center of the World."

But public opinion has its own theory—and much credence is given it.

Until recently the bridge was a center for several side roads. The settlers and early residents came down these roads to the bridge, and across it to where their shopping. There were grog shops, where one might drink hot rum on snowy afternoons, and rural stores, with their inevitable cracker barrel philosophers, with whom one might discuss the pros and cons of the slavery question. To those who made the trading area mecca "Center of the World" was a descriptive appellation.

Name Lingers

The name lingered because of its former significance. The last vehicle to rumble under the friendly cover of wood, which formed protection against wind and rain, sleet and snow.

To Mahoning County's legendry, which embraces many covered bridges, all of which are passing, old "Center of the World" always will be a paramount part.

Broken Hearts Cost From $700 to $250, 000

Hard-Boiled New York Jury Sets New Record in Award of $25,000 to He. Cracked Heart, While Such Suits Decrease in Britain as Awards Grow Less.

IVY CARBERRY

ROBERT REDWING and WIFE, PRINCESS ROSE MARIE

NEW YORK.—Last week in the New York Supreme Court, a 53-year-old woman won $25,000 for her broken heart.

This is doing very well indeed for New York. The town is probably about the hardest boiled town in the United States when it comes to paying for broken hearts.

Chicago awarded Ann Livingston, pretty divorcee of Tulsa, Okla., $25,000 for the heart that was cracked up by Frank P. Harding, 63-year-old oil burner king.

Pittsburgh went $25,000 better when a court awarded Ann Caldwell, actress, $50,000 from John W. Hubbard, the "shovel king," three years ago. Since then Pennsylvania has tightened up her pocket against the wailing lady with the busted heart.

Last month Ivy Carberry, a woman of middle age, won $6,000 of the $100,000 she had asked of Ross Oenslager, wealthy clubman. The jury was moved to the verdict by a marriage contract.

Last Spring, Los Angeles mended the ailing heart of Dolores Salazar, Spanish dancer, with $17,000 of Ferdinand Pinney Earle's money. She convinced the jury she gave up a career in dramatic art for the fascinating Paris artist who lured her with a fake marriage in Mexico and wrote a letter to her father in which he told of Dolores's quaint and dignified manner and of his ardent love for her.

British court and British juries are more hard boiled than those in the United States, and breach of promise cases are rapidly diminishing. Last year two such suits brought the injured ladies only $5,000.

Justice McCordie stated an undeniable truth when he said that two-thirds of all breach of promise actions are brought not to remedy a loss, but to inflict some public hurt upon a man by a disappointed woman.

But only 17 years ago Daisy Markham, an English girl, obtained the biggest slice of the breach of promise cake that has ever been handed out. Her suit was against the Marquis of Northampton, who was one of the four largest owners of real estate in London. Early in the proceedings Daisy Markham's victory was with the Marquis for $75,000, but he refused. Finally he was obliged to pay $250,000.

padding in happier days. Taking it all in all at the present figures broken hearts can be estimated at from $700 to $250,000.

Three Belgian Blonds, Pretty, Leave Capitol

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON.—Three beautiful blond princesses are bidding farewell to the Capitol. The wife and two daughters of the Belgian ambassador are to leave in a month. The prince has been transferred to Rome.

NEW YORK.—Sydelle Parker, show girl, has been carting around a $1,000 bill and then some. She produced the "grand" in traffic court to pay a $5 fine. There was insufficient change in the exchequer. Then she found a $100 bill in her purse.

WASHINGTON.—Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, would seem to be quite a diplomat. He spent an hour with President Hoover. One is not supposed to discuss such things. "What brought you?" The senator was asked. The answer was prompt: "A second-hand car."

NEW YORK.—It ought to be worth while to tune in on the WJZ chain at 9:30 eastern time tonight. Irvn Cobb will be on the air.

WASHINGTON.—Saturdays and Sundays excepted, the army, navy and marine bands, one or another, is to broadcast daily. Some 200 concerts have been arranged by the National Broadcasting company.

LONDON.—One London tenant is thankful for John Bull's speedy mail. He wrote his landlord complaining of leaking gas. The landlord got the card within an hour, called and found the tenant unconscious. He recovered.

MARKETS

SHARE PRICES SETTLE AGAIN

Trading Dwindles Off Following Momentary Upturn

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—The underlining influences of impatience and uncertainty caused another gentle settling of share prices in today's stock market.

Trading quickened a little and the creeping sag of the past two days gained momentum for a time, but around midday, the market seemed to strike hardpan and after a momentary upturn, trading dwindled off close to the vanishing point.

Rails were again the conspicuously heavy group. New York Central, Chicago and Northwestern, Frisco, Southern, Lackawanna, and Nickel Plate sold off 1 to 3 points to new lows for recent years.

Food riots in Germany aggravate the government's difficulties. Even the allies may ask themselves eventually how long a nation will continue to pay hundreds of millions a year in gold, for a war that ended 12 years ago, when the nation's own people haven't enough to eat.

Other countries may have serious food troubles such as they have in Germany. We shall have no riots, presumably, because we need not have them.

Three things men must have, food, shelter, heat. There are plenty of buildings for shelter, and one of our national troubles is too much coal and oil. No trouble about heat.

Another of our problems is how to get rid of surplus food. The government is holding about 90 million bushels of wheat, wondering what to do with it. Men could live on boiled wheat, if they had to. Roman soldiers ate it raw, carrying it in a pouch at their belts on long marches. Hence the magnificently even teeth in old Roman skulls.

There can be no excuse for food riots or any undesired hunger in this country.

Food riots in Germany aggravate the government's difficulties. Even the allies may ask themselves eventually how long a nation will continue to pay hundreds of millions a year in gold, for a war that ended 12 years ago, when the nation's own people haven't enough to eat.

Other countries may have serious food troubles such as they have in Germany. We shall have no riots, presumably, because we need not have them.

Three things men must have, food, shelter, heat. There are plenty of buildings for shelter, and one of our national troubles is too much coal and oil. No trouble about heat.

Another of our problems is how to get rid of surplus food. The government is holding about 90 million bushels of wheat, wondering what to do with it. Men could live on boiled wheat, if they had to. Roman soldiers ate it raw, carrying it in a pouch at their belts on long marches. Hence the magnificently even teeth in old Roman skulls.

There can be no excuse for food riots or any undesired hunger in this country.

TODAY'S PUPILS NOT INFERIOR, SAYS EDUCATOR

O. S. U. Expert Compiles
Figures To Prove Assertions

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Dec. 5.—To the charge that Ohio high school graduates of today are inferior in ability to the graduates of five years ago, Dr. R. W. Taylor, of the Bureau of Educational Research, Ohio State University, enters, in their behalf, a preliminary plea of not guilty.

Gathers Evidence
To test the accuracy of this charge, banded about for several years, Dr. Taylor has been gathering evidence from the schools of the state. The preliminary evidence seems to refute the charge, he says. More than this, the first evidence shows, Dr. Taylor reports in the current issue of the Educational Research Bulletin published by the university, that the criticism is not only unjustified but that "many of the differences in favor of the present high school pupils are satisfactorily significant."

To check the accuracy of the assertion that the present crop of high school graduates is inferior to that of half a decade ago, Dr. Taylor has been comparing the results of tests given to high school pupils five years ago, prior to 1925, with the results of recent similar tests.

Score Increasing
Commenting on the first results of the survey, Dr. W. W. Charters, director of the bureau of educational research, asserts that "studies show a gradually increasing improvement in the scores of children today, when subjected to the same tests as the children of yesterday."

On the whole, he points out, the children of 1930 made better scores on such tests than did the students of five or ten years ago.

Mme. Lupescu Holds Position of Beauties Who Ruled French Destiny Years Ago

As Carol II of Rumania Installs Titian-Haired Beauty in Royal Palace, Coronation Is Indefinitely Delayed and Subjects View Act With Horror.

KING CAROL II and
MME. MAGDA LUPESCU

LOUIS XVI and MME. POMPADOUR

NEW YORK — Will Magda Lupescu go down in history as another du Barry or Pompadour? Will historians of the future place the red-haired charmer of King Carol, of Roumania, in the same category as those beauties of other days who ruled the destinies of France?

With the astonishing news that Magda Lupescu is the chateleine of the royal palace in Bucharest comes the information that the official coronation of the king may be indefinitely postponed through the people of Roumania are beginning to wonder what will happen now that the king has flung his gauntlet in the face of his entire kingdom and humiliated the entire Roumanian royal family by his open preference for the woman for whom he once renounced the throne and went into exile.

Onlookers are wondering if human nature has altered much and whether the subjects of the king will become reconciled to the thought of acknowledging the power and position of their king's mistress as in the days of Louis XIV and Louis XV. And will the Roumanians have the affection for Lupescu that the people of England had for merry madcap Nell Gwynn, the mistress of Charles II? Those who know Lupescu disclaim on her part any desire to come a du Barry or Pompadour. They say that her affection for the king is real and is not actuated by any wish for power or domination. But the more cynical believe that a woman cannot resist the temptation of attempting to influence politics, if she is in a position to do so. Up till now, at any rate, she has not attempted to exert any undue influence. The people of Roumania would prefer however that the former Helen of Greece take her place as Carol's consort, but she has proved adamant in all attempts to effect a reconciliation with the king.

Louis XVI of France was almost entirely under the influence of his court favorites and every affair of state went through the hands of these shrewd women. The principal women who affected the destiny of France during this reign were de la Valliere, Mme. de Montespan and finally Mme. de Maintenon. The last named effected the reconciliation of the king with Maria Theresa, his queen, and upon her death, de Maintenon became the king's wife, although she never ruled as queen.

France, who was attuned to the vagaries of royalty, found in Louis XV, a king whose life was entirely under the influence of his

Eagle Undisputed King of Feathered Creatures

In all ages and among many nations the eagle has been considered the king of birds. In ancient mythology he was held sacred to Jove, who had dominion over the seasons and held in his grasp the lightning. In early historic times many nations paid it special reverence, and the Romans, following the earlier example of the Persians or Assyrians, made it their ensign. More modern countries—France, Prussia, Italy, Mexico—have chosen its figure to adorn their standards. It was natural, therefore, that America should adopt its own fine species as its emblem. Since 1782, when it was formally chosen, the eagle has been selected to appear on the official flags of Illinois, Iowa, Kentucky, Michigan, New York, North Dakota, Oregon and Utah. His image also figures on various flags, standards and seals of the United States, of the army and navy, and of the President and his cabinet, and on several of our coins. —Nature Magazine.

FIRE MARSHAL TO REPORT ON PEN DISASTER

Columbus Newspaper Reports Seven Convicts Will Be Blamed

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Dec. 4.—The Columbus Dispatch, in a story published today, says the state fire marshal, who investigated the Ohio penitentiary fire in which 320 convicts died, will make his report to Governor Myers Y. Cooper early next week.

The story says that although the information contained in the report will not be made public until that time, "it is understood that it will say:

Blame Seven Convicts
"That seven convicts were directly responsible for the plotting and the firing of the institution building in which the convicts were housed to death. That two of the seven were themselves victims of the fire."

"That another of the groups charged himself at the institution during the investigation."

"That another unsuccessfully attempted to hang himself."

Investigation Incomplete
The story added that much of the information received by the investigators came from convicts now in the penitentiary.

Commenting on the story, Fire Marshal Ray Gill said his report of the fire will not be ready for presentation to the governor next week, because his investigation was incomplete.

He had no comment to make on the statements contained in the story.

"RUBBER STAMP" STUDY COURSES TO BE REVISED

(By Associated Press)
WOOSTER, Dec. 4.—The young man or woman who wants to design his own college curriculum instead of having little choice from the "rubber-stamp" list of courses generally imposed, is going to be able to get what he wants.

Revise Requirements
Officials of Wooster college here sponsored the new attitude toward curricula today by announcing revised requirements for degrees.

Beginning next year, Wooster college will abolish the degree "Bachelor of Science" holding that its requirements are so near alike the "Bachelor of Arts" that the latter degree will serve for both purposes.

The arts degree will be conferred upon students with 120 hours credits, the same number as now required, but much greater diversification in courses will be allowed at student's choice.

Reduction in Hours
Specifically required subjects which are given for the general broadening of the intellect will be reduced from 74 to 54 hours. The allowance of credits for subjects in any group in which the student wants to specialize, will be increased from 24 to 40 hours. The remainder of the credits can be obtained by the student's selection from a wide range of elective subjects.

Thugs Disgraced; Violate Ethics As They Accept Bribe

(By United Press)
CLEVELAND, Dec. 5.—Two burglars violated the code of ethics of the profession early today by accepting a "bribe" from Mrs. Mary Bradley, but Mrs. Bradley has found an excellent way of getting rid of burglars.

Mrs. Bradley heard noises outside her bedroom window. She looked out and saw two men standing by the side of the house. "Get away from there," she warned.

The men harkened but heeded not. "Take this and get away from here," she cried as she tossed a $20 bill from the window.

Bribed, but beaten, the prowlers left.

AVIATOR'S BODY FOUND IN SNOW

William Griffin Victim Of Crash in Chautauqua Hills

(By Associated Press)
BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 5.—The body of William M. Griffin, aviator, today was on the way to Hamilton, Ont., his former home, for burial.

Griffin, who in recent years had lived in Berea, Ohio, was killed Nov. 24, after he had taken off in his plane from Buffalo for Cleveland. His body was found yesterday in the wreckage of his plane in a wooded section of the Chautauqua county hills.

In the wreck were broken bottles which had contained Canadian liquor. Authorities said there was no suspicion of the Berea aviator being a rum runner, but that he probably had stored away a few bottles for friends at home when he took off from Hamilton, Ontario. The plane had landed at Buffalo for refueling, but was not inspected here by customs men. Friends said he never drank liquor himself.

East Liverpool Man Asks Damages

LISBON, Dec. 5.—R. J. Humphrey, of Station A, East Liverpool, through his counsel, W. S. Foulks, has filed a $5,000 damage action in common pleas court against John Donahew and The Wellsville Mfg. Co., Inc., of East Palestine, for injuries sustained when an automobile he was driving was wrecked by a truck driven by the defendant.

The machine was owned by Carrie Humphrey, and suit for $500 damages has been entered against the same defendants.

Humphrey was driving on the Calcutta road south of Calcutta, Nov. 12 last when the truck, driven by Donahew went over the center line of the road, it is charged, and crashed into the Humphrey car, causing severe injuries to Humphrey, who, the petition sets up, has been unable to work since the accident.

DEED ORDERED IN COURT SUIT

Report Of Commissioners Approved In Partition Action

LISBON, Dec. 5.—In the partition action filed by Glenn R. Pattison against George Long and others, the court has approved the report of the commissioners. Pattison was deeded to take the property at the appraised value, and the court has ordered a deed and distribution.

A motion to set aside a judgment has been heard and submitted to Judge W. F. Lones in the case of The Free Sewing Machine Co., a corporation, against William Bodendorf. The court has held that the judgment should be vacated, but an order of vacation has been held in abeyance until the final trial and judgment. The defendant has been granted leave to file an answer to the petition at once.

Leave to the plaintiff to file a petition at once has been granted in the case of William Walsh against Robert Farr, an appeal case from a lower court.

Judgment by default in favor of the plaintiff for $135.40 and costs has been entered in the case of Louis Wolken against J. R. Mosby.

The divorce action filed by Virginia M. McGaffie against her husband, Leroy McGaffie, Dec. 30, last, has been dismissed by the court at the costs of the plaintiff, and without prejudice.

Leave to the defendant to file a demurrer has been granted in the case of Lucy Richmond against Max Uhlworm, Jr., as executor.

A motion for a new trial has been overruled by Judge Lones in the damage action filed by John Lamm as administrator of the estate of the late Frank Lamm against Fred Wilke, doing business as Wilke's bakery, with exceptions for the plaintiff entered. A jury in this case returned a verdict last March in favor of the plaintiff for $4,500 damages and $653.25 as funeral expenses. The petition sought $25,000 damages. Whether or not this case will be appealed has not been announced.

Former Salem High Stars To Play In Benefit Game On Dec. 22

Red And Black Quintet Of 1926-27 To Oppose Columbiana Cage Five

The team of basketball stars that ranks as the greatest aggregation to ever represent Salem High in interscholastic cage competition will clash with the strong Columbiana Boosters in a charity contest planned for the high school gymnasium here Monday, December 22, J. M. Kelley, manager of the Memorial building, announced today.

The game will be played to raise funds for a Christmas dinner which will be provided the city's needy children at the Memorial building on Wednesday, December 24. More than 200 children will be guests at the dinner, an event similar to that held Thanksgiving day.

Malcolm Rush, Robert Campbell, Lowell Allen, Lester Older, Ed Sidinger, Walter Harsh and Gus Tolerton, members of the famous Salem High team of the season of 1926-27 which advanced to the semi-finals in the Ohio interscholastic tournament at Columbus will take the floor against the Columbiana aggregation. Each of the players is now playing basketball, either at college or independent and will be available for the benefit battle.

Seek High School Gym

Efforts are being made by Kelley to obtain the high school gym for the battle. John S. Alan, superintendent of schools, was approached on the matter Thursday afternoon, Alan agreeing to donate the use of the floor providing he obtains the board of education's permission to do so. The board's action is expected, Kelley said today.

It will be the first time Salem cage fadom will see the original 1926-27 team in action since annual contests between Red and Black teams and alumni aggregations were dropped from the schedule two seasons ago. Rush is now captain of the Bethany, W. Va. college cage squad, Campbell is playing basketball at the University of Wisconsin, Sidinger is a member of the University of Cincinnati varsity squad and Allen is out for the Mount Union team at Alliance.

Tolerton At Reserve

Tolerton, attending Western Reserve at Cleveland, is not eligible for varsity competition this season but is keeping in trim by competing in intramural and interfraternity activities. Older and Harsh are members of Salem Class A league teams. Harsh was Rush's teammate at Bethany two seasons ago but has withdrawn from college.

This team easily outdistances any previous array of Salem High players and won the Northeastern Ohio championship in 1927, then defeated Dayton Stivers High to advance into semi-finals of the state tourney at Columbus. Waite High of Toledo eliminated Salem from the tourney by a 27-26 score.

All proceeds of this contest will be used for the Christmas dinner fund. At the Thanksgiving day affair 200 youngsters were banqueted through funds obtained in a dance held at the Memorial building and Foresters' hall.

ELECTRICS PLAY MONDAY

Grove Quintet Will Play Return Contest With Canfield At Memorial Building Gym

The R. E. Grove Electric company five clashes with the strong Canfield Olympic A. C. in a return battle at the Memorial building gymnasium Monday night. In the first game played between the two teams at Canfield, the Olympics won by a 14-12 score.

The Electric held a stiff workout at the Memorial building last night and looked like an improved team. They swamped the Lease Drug Class B aggregation in a practice game despite poor underbasket work on part of all players.

Thursday night The Electric do battle with another city league entrant, the McArtor Florists, backed by Perry McArtor of the McArtor Floral company. This game will also be played at the Memorial building.

COLUMBIANA TO PLAY BOARDMAN IN COURT GAME

County School To Open Cage Schedule At Home Tonight

COLUMBIANA, Dec. 5.—Columbiana High opens its basketball season tonight. Boys and girls teams meet Coach "Buck" Burkle's Boardman High teams at the High school gym.

Last season, at Boardman, the Mahoning county lads and lassies were both victorious, the boys' score being 25-16 and the girls 25-23. The Columbiana girls should turn the tables this year, with the boys only having an outside chance for victory, owing to the inexperience of the squad, all of last year's regulars having graduated.

Add Two Games

Two more games have been added to the local schedule with Bessemer and Sebring. No games are yet scheduled with Lisbon, no satisfactory dates having been agreed upon. Faculty Manager Miller had reserved the two dates for Lisbon corresponding to their last year's games, but Lisbon gave these dates to other teams. It is probable that another game or two will be added during the season.

Following is the schedule as it now stands: Dec. 5, Boardman, here; Dec. 13, New Waterford, there; Dec. 19, Bessemer, here; Jan. 2, Alumni, here; Jan. 9, East Palestine, here; Jan. 16, Hubbard, there; Jan. 23, Girard, here; Jan. 30, Salineville, there; Jan. 31, Salem girls (only), there; Feb. 7, Sebring, here; Feb. 13, E. Palestine, there; Feb. 20, Salineville, here; Feb. 27-28, County Tournament.

Lineups Uncertain

The lineups of the two home teams are still undecided. Coach Ruth

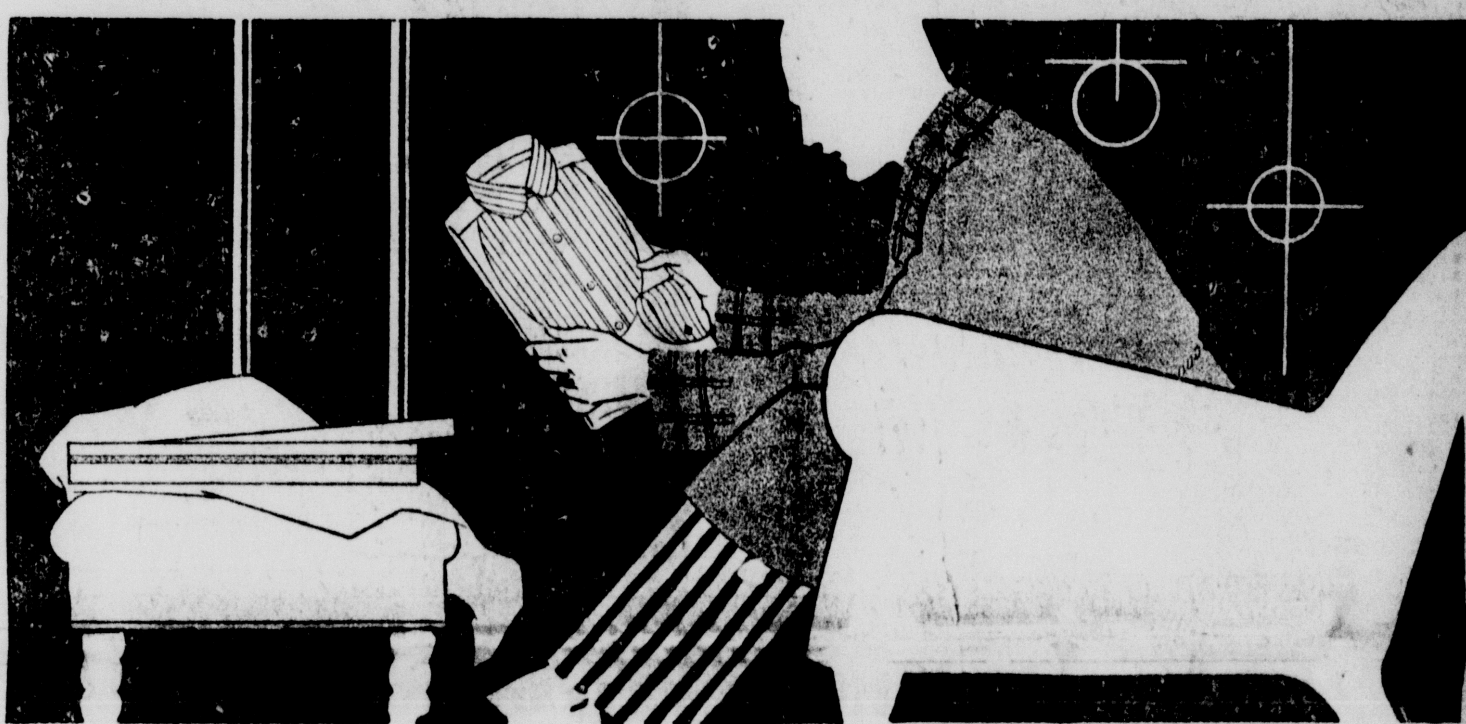

Young of the girls has reduced her squad to 18. All of last year's regular guards are available, the problem being to develop a forward combination. The squad now includes: Capt. Virginia Shaffer, Eleanor Shearer, Marjorie Fisher, Esther Greaves, Ruth Henry, Alice McKenzie, Beulah Zellars, Mary Coleman, Mary Reese, Vivian Gruber, Vivian Reemer, Vivian Mitchell, Marjorie Longenecker, Margaret Gaines, Anna Andrich, Virginia Hart, Dorothy Hoffmaster and Doris May.

Kent Loses Veterans

KENT, Dec. 5.—Gridiron warriors of Kent State college, numbering 14, will be awarded letters at a banquet Dec. 15. Only four lettermen will be lost by graduation—Charles Kilbourne, Kent; Art Stejskal, North Olmsted; Phil Bary, Ravenna and Ted Sapp, Kent.

CHERTSEY, (Surrey), Eng.—On the day fixed for her husband's funeral, Mrs. Rapley died and a double funeral was held.

MOVIES

"SWEETHEARTS ON PARADE"

At The State
Alice White, Marie Prevost, Lloyd Hughes, Ray Cooke and Kenneth Thomson are all cast in prominent roles in "Sweethearts on Parade," the hilarious comedy which opens at the State theater tonight.

Here is a fast action film aided by a sufficient quantity of bright dialogue and hilarious situations. The locale of the story is laid for the major part in an amusement park of a large city. Other scenes are unfolded in a department store, aboard a United States cruiser, a millionaire's yacht and a working girl's apartment. Alice White, popular star, plays the role of a little country girl who comes to the big city to marry a millionaire. Marie Prevost, as comedienne, as a sophisticated product of the big city, makes an excellent foil.

Lloyd Hughes and Ray Cooke portray a marine and a mob respectively and their several combative moments furnish may hilarious highlights. Kenneth Thomson, as the millionaire who does not measure up to the country girl's ideals, Wilbur Mack in a characteristic comedy role and Max Asher, all render excellent support.

"A MAN FROM WYOMING"

At The Grand
"A Man From Wyoming" is essentially a love story—a play which is redolent of the glamor of romance against the stirring background of the war.

The war atmosphere is not implied, however; it is very vividly present in a number of thrilling scenes—scenes which required the combined resources of Paramount's technical staff, Rowland V. Lee, the principals and a personnel of more than 200 ex-soldiers.

"A Man From Wyoming" is a stirring tale of war, love, and daring deeds. Cooper is seen as the captain of a company of U. S. Engineers who are plunged into the thick of the "big push." June Collier is the ambulance driver sweetheart of Cooper in this romance-drama.

Regis Toomey, former University of Pittsburgh student and athlete, who has supported some of the most important stars of the screen, including William Powell, Charles "Buddy" Rogers, Richard Dix and Richard Arlen, adds a new chapter to his interesting career as a featured player in this picture.

"THE WHITE HELL OF PITZ PAU"

At The Royal
An absolutely new kind of photoplay, "The White Hell of Pitz Pau," opens at the Royal theatre tonight. It is thrilling, awe-inspiring, tense with drama, and it has

Notre Dame Meets U. of Southern Calif.

ERNEST PARKER • MARSHALL DUFFIELD • GARRETT ARDELON • MARTY BRILL • FRANK CARIDEO
Perhaps the greatest thrill of the football season is anticipated when two leading teams, Notre Dame and University of Southern California, meet at Los Angeles on December 6th. Both teams are confident of victory.

something never done before on the screen—a vocal dramatization by the greatest of broadcasters, Graham McNamee.

The picture, produced by Dr. Arnold Fanck in the high Alps of Switzerland, has a highly dramatic story into which are woven some of the most astonishing thrills ever seen on the screen. The adventures of the three main characters—the husband, the wife, and the strange figure of Dr. Johannes Kraft—form a tense story in which Peak Palu itself is the villain.

McNamee uses his extraordinary powers of description and suspense to heighten for the audience the drama of the picture as it is unfolded. His vivid and colorful talk comes forth from the screen in the big situations of the story, as three human beings attempt to conquer a gigantic 12,040 foot height in the Alps—Pitz Palu.

The thrills, which are an integral part of the story, include the terrific crash of avalanches as they sweep down mountainsides; the climbing of sheer walls thousands of feet high and the trapping of the three principals on a dizzy height. "Run-Tin-Tin" is featured in "Rough Waters" which is also shown at the Royal theatre.

REMEMBER the Franklin Rebus

Contest we ran three years ago?

Here's another one. This handsome English Chair, in Oak, with Loose Cushion Seat and Back is the prize we will give this Christmas as a present to the winner. It is a beautiful A-Grade Franklin Upholstered Chair, made in every detail in the Franklin superior construction. Well worth using some brain-energy to win.

A section of the Rebus will be run in this paper in a few days. Watch for it. Then come to our store and get a complete Rebus printed clearly on a card. Work out the tangle at home of evenings. Put the brain-power of the whole family at work deciphering it. Write out your solution and bring it in. Each member of your family may hand in a solution.

Some one will win the Chair. In case no one solution is correct, the person bringing in the nearest correct solution will be the winner. Look into our window as you go by; the Chair will soon be on display there.

TELLS HOW TO WRITE STORIES

Treatise On Authorship By Blanche Colton Williams Received At Library

Anyone who feels that he would like to write short stories may find out how to do it from a new booklet, "Short Story Writing," by Blanche Colton Williams which has just been received at the Salem Public Library.

It is by no means necessary to be a genius to write short stories that will sell, according to Miss Williams, who, since 1919, has edited the annual collection of O. Henry Memorial Award Prize Stories. She points out that the great variety and number of magazines in search of entertaining stories afford a wide market for short fiction.

How characters, atmosphere, plot, and other essentials may be created within the scope of a few thousand words is explained by the author and illustrated by references to well known masterpieces. Miss Williams not only tells how to write stories but how to sell them and, as her discussion is brief, she suggests other books and stories which may also be obtained at the library for further reading on the subject. This course is one of the "Reading with a Purpose" series published by the American Library Association.

King Carol Shows His Royal Hand

A red-headed woman, Mme. Lupescu, is again causing trouble. It has been reported that the Titled beauty, for whom Carol II of Rumania renounced his original rights to the throne, has been installed as chateau of his palace at Bucharest, to the horror of his subjects and the humiliation of the royal family.

NORTON, Va.—Wise County bootleggers are canny. Several weeks ago prohibition officers discovered that a system of ringing church bells was used to warn of their approach. Now they set off dynamite. Sheriff B. L. Skens and several deputies captured an eight-gallon still, 1,000 gallons of beer and 50 gallons of whiskey in Bee Branch Hollow, but did not find the operators, who had been warned away by several explosions of dynamite.

Ohio Girl's Lucky Day

THREE candles! And each one represents a year of joyous living. Betty Jane Glenn, of 7031 Zoeter Ave., Cleveland, is a typical Fig Syrup baby. Here is what her mother says:

"My druggist told me about California Fig Syrup, and when Betty Jane became constipated we got some for her. It relieved her constipation immediately, sweetened her breath, made her bright and happy again."

"I have also used Fig Syrup for her colds and upsets. It has kept her strong and vigorous."

For fifty years, wise mothers have been secure in the knowledge that a child's headache, bilious, feverish or fretful spells can be quickly and safely overcome by California Fig Syrup. Physicians recommend its soothing aid to keep the bowels clear in colds, or children's ailments; or whenever bad breath, coated tongue, or listlessness warn of constipation.

California Fig Syrup helps tone and strengthen weak bowels—assists in building-up and energizing weak children. The genuine always bears the name California. All druggists.

THE HOME KITCHEN

By Jeannette Young Norton

Codfish Can Be Tasty

Because of its meatiness and the ease with which it can be boned, cod is a choice fish to serve dressed with tasty sauces. Those who minimize cod do so because they know it only in its two most common forms—as codfish balls, or codfish steaks. And neither of these two put the fish forward at its best.

As a matter of fact, the frying of codfish steaks really serves up the fish in its driest form—requiring the accompaniment of some liquid sauces. But if cod is baked or stewed gently in a special sauce, the meat will remain juicy, tender and as desirable as more expensive fish. Tomatoes, peppers, onions, lemon, vinegar and ginger are a few of the condiments that go well with codfish. And any leftover is excellent served cold with a liberal mayonnaise dressing.

Baked Codfish

- 1 thick slice codfish
- 2 cupsful canned tomatoes
- 1/2 cupful chopped onion
- 1 green pepper
- 1 teaspoon curry powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 few bay leaves
- 2 tablespoons butter

Melt the butter in a saucepan, add the chopped onions and peppers, and when lightly browned, add tomatoes and other seasonings, and simmer for 15 minutes. Then place the codfish in a buttered baking dish, sprinkle with salt and pepper, and pour the strained sauce over it. Bake in a moderate oven half an hour, basting occasionally with the pan juice.

For plain boiled codfish a tasty sauce can be made by using cream instead of cream sauce. Place 1 cup of thin cream in a saucepan, add 1 teaspoon cornstarch dissolved in 1 tablespoon cold water, then add 2 beaten egg yolks. Keep stirring until smooth, then add juice of 1 lemon and 1 tablespoon vinegar, salt and pepper.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS.—While Assistant District Atty. Frank G. Volpe was prosecuting an arson case in Middlesex superior court, he was informed that a foundry he owned in Somerville was afire. Court recessed while he rushed to the foundry, which was destroyed.

Saving Hands in Handling Vegetables

Hands are likely to suffer during the wintry season, when coarse vegetables come to the fore. Lucky the housewife who has made the rubber-glove habit automatic, and who literally doesn't stick her hands in cold water.

A few simple bits of equipment are a protection. Gloves, first and foremost. A few stiff vegetable brushes. A coarse grater.

Potatoes can work havoc with the hands if one gets into the habit of preparing them quickly, without special consideration of fingers. It may conserve vitamins to scrape potatoes instead of peeling them, but it doesn't conserve a soft hand. But if scraping is the rule, then it's a help to soak the potatoes in salt water for about 15 minutes first. However, if the skin is peeled off paper thin, there is no more loss of mineral salts between skin and pulp than if scraped. A simple way is to peel a narrow strip lengthwise from each potato and then cook. Peel completely when cooking is finished, and the skin will come off readily.

As for carrots and small turnips, these can be rubbed over a coarse grater to remove the layer of outer skin—much easier than peeling. Large turnips, egg plant and squash need the gloved hand to cut them in slices of chunks first, to be peeled later. Mushrooms, too, require the rubber-gloved hand to peel them.
